World First Aid Day- 9 September

Any form of help given to a sick or injured person during an emergency situation is called as first aid. It is provided until a full medical treatment is available.

World First Aid Day is an annual observance celebrated on every second Saturday of September. In the year 2000, the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies (IFRC) has introduced World First Aid Day. It is celebrated to bring awareness among the people about the importance of first aid.

The celebration of the day raises public awareness about the first aid, how it can save lives in every day and during crisis situations. The IFRC encourages people to learn the basic first aid training or at least educate themselves practising any available, reliable sources.

We at St. Mary's ICSE School introduced the children of Grade 1 to 3 to World First Aid Day by arranging for their visit to the various labs in school. Here the children witnessed the First Aid Box, its contents and uses. They were also explained the importance of reporting any injury occurred at home/ school immediately to the adults around.
